

CADTH

pCODR PAN-CANADIAN
ONCOLOGY DRUG REVIEW

The Impact of Patient Input in HTA and Decision Making in Oncology

CAPT Conference
October 23, 2017

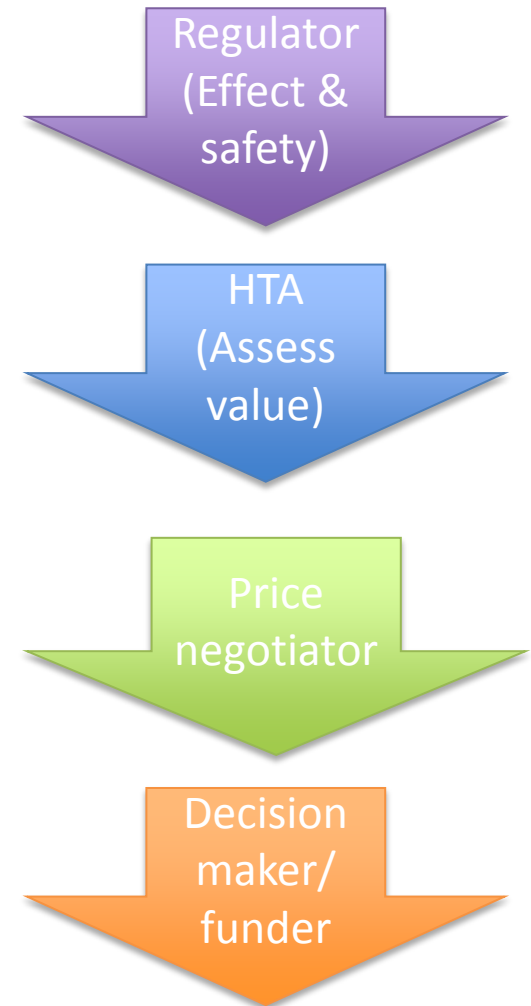

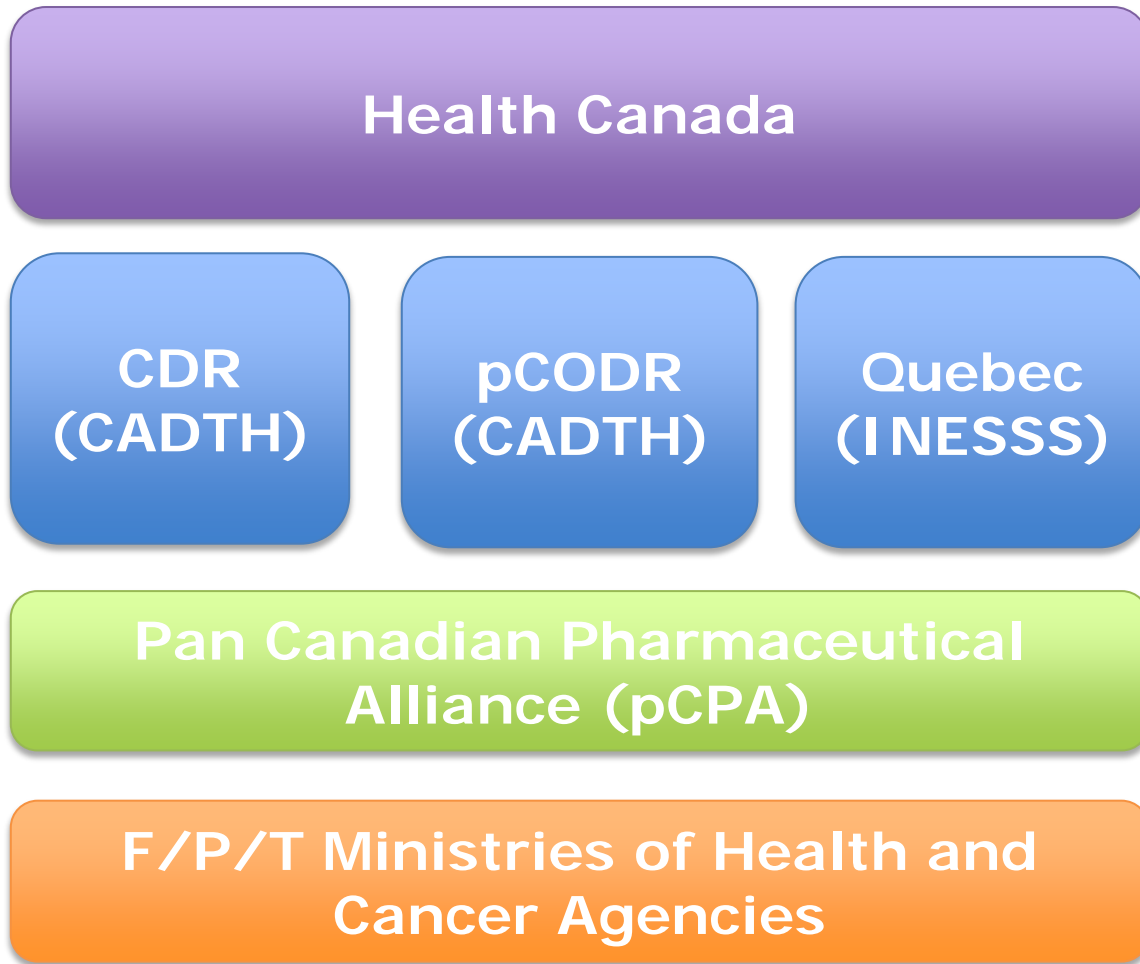

Panelists

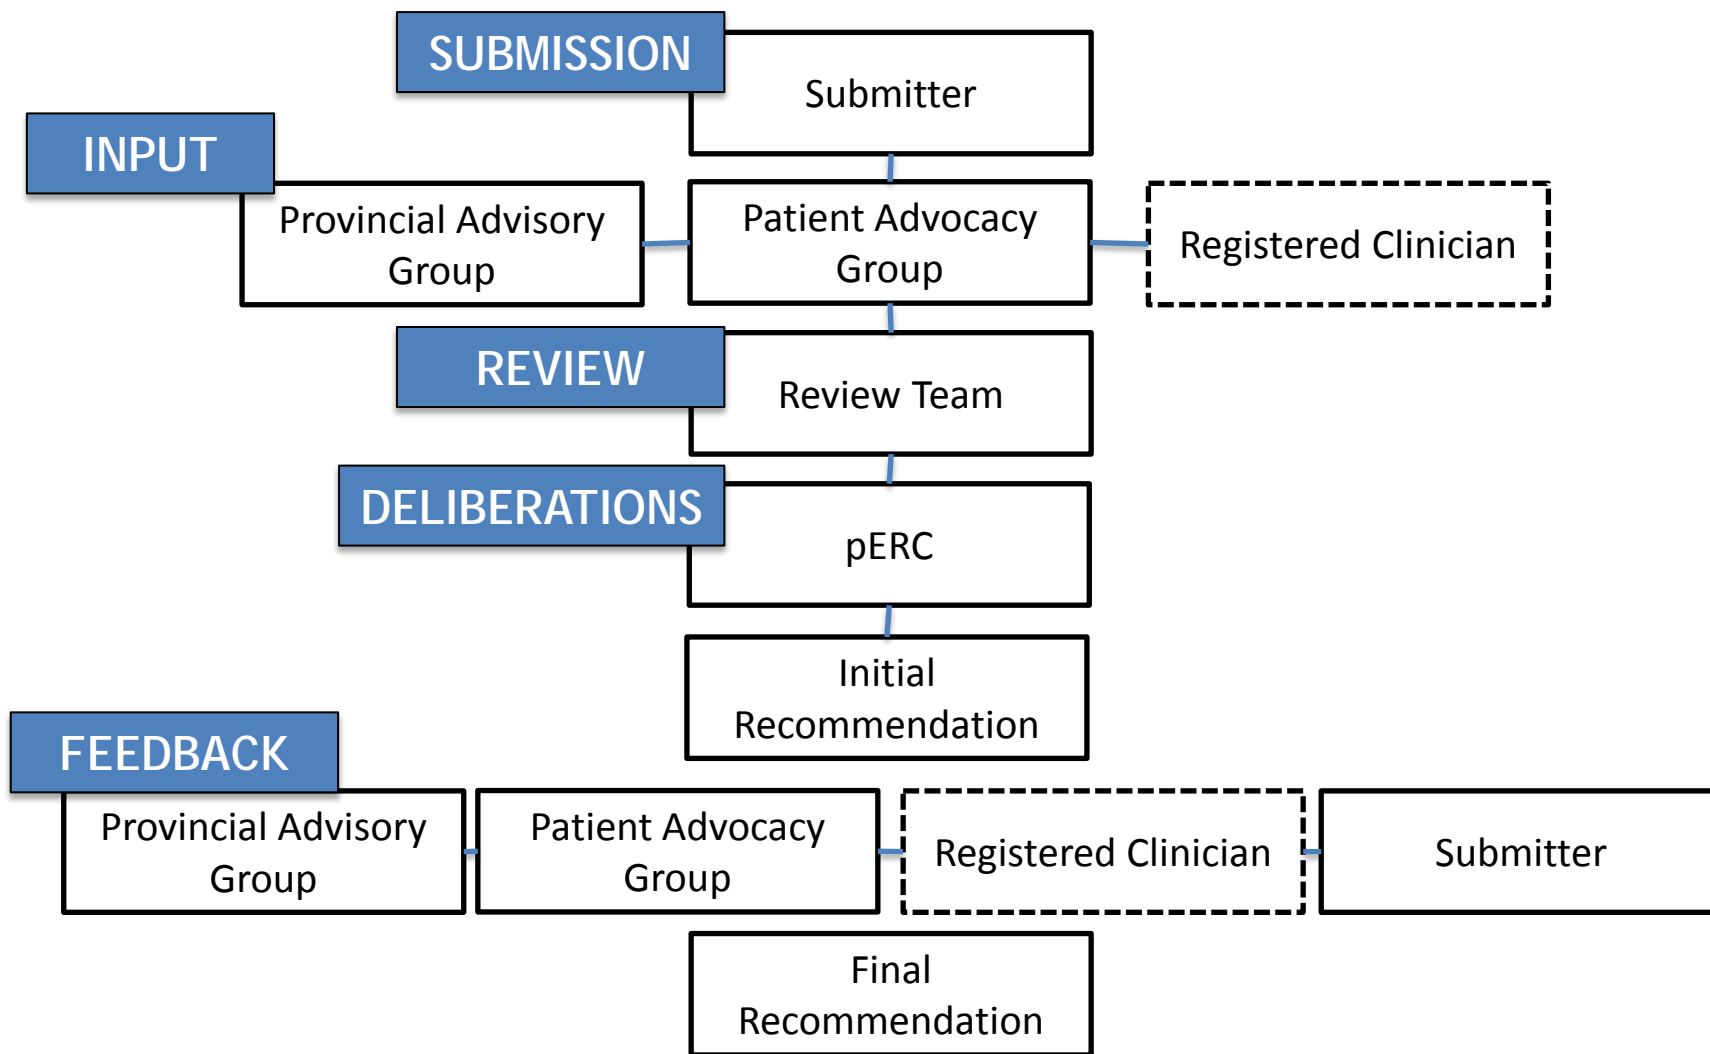

- Robin Markowitz
 - CEO Lymphoma Canada
- Dr. Maureen Trudeau
 - Chair, pCODR Expert Review Committee (pERC)
- Kathy Gesy
 - Chair, Provincial Advisory Group (PAG) and Director, Oncology Pharmacy Services, Saskatchewan Cancer Agency

Objectives

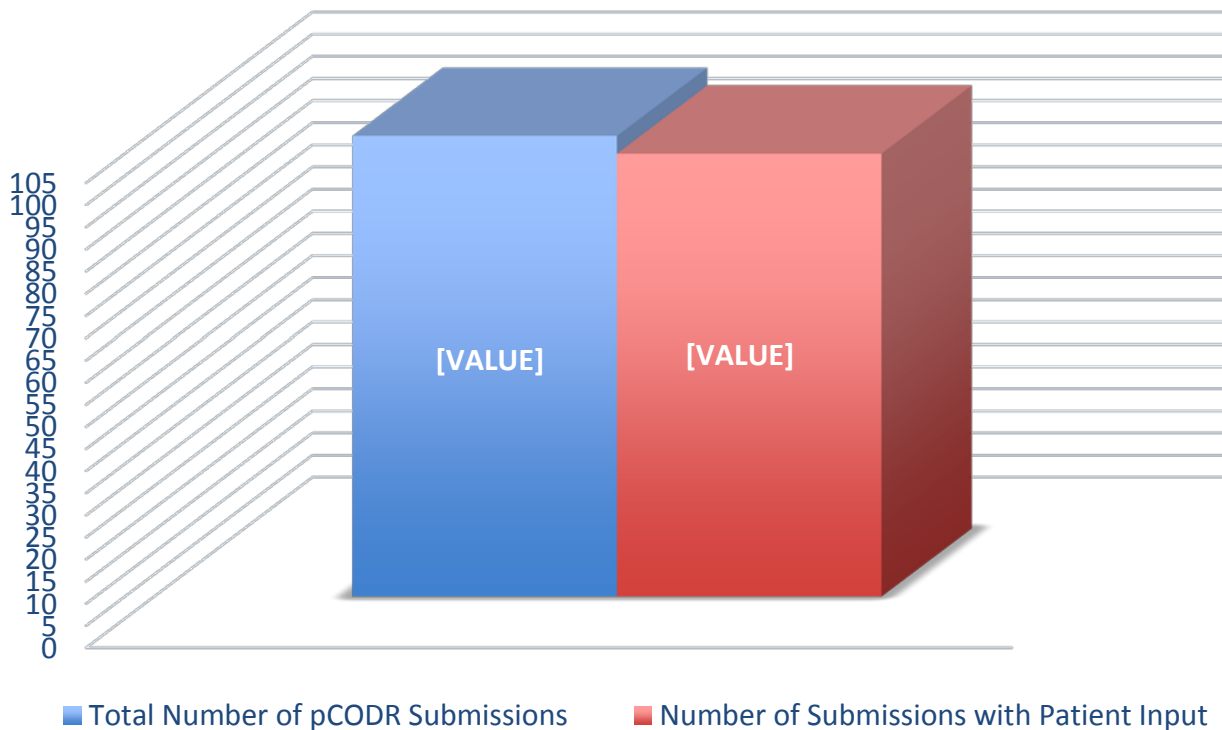

- Explore the impact of patient input and feedback in pERC recommendations
- Highlight the patient experience with providing input, share feedback on successes and examine opportunities to improve process
- Explore how patient values impacts implementation and decision making at the provincial level

Drug Access: Who Does What?

pCODR Submissions with Patient Group Input

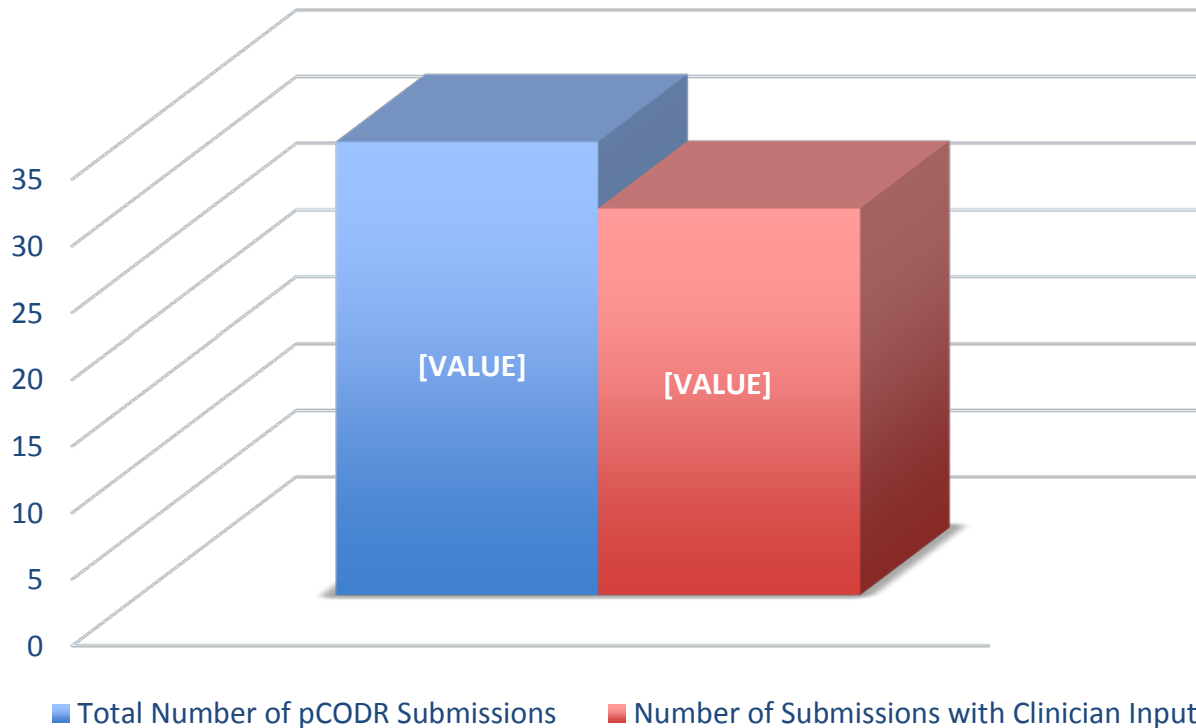

From July 2011 to September 30, 2017:
Patient Input in pCODR submissions: 96%

Total Patient Group Submissions = 150*

Note: Certain drug/indication submissions had more than 1 patient group submission*

pCODR Submissions with Clinician Input

From April 1, 2016 to September 30, 2017:
Clinician Input in pCODR submissions: 85%

Number of pCODR reviews with Individual Clinician Input: 19
Number of pCODR reviews with Clinician Group Input: 28*

Note: Group clinician input consists of 3-8 physicians/group submission*

pCODR Expert Review Committee's (pERC) Deliberative Framework

Clinical Benefit

- Effectiveness
- Safety
- Burden of Illness
- Need

Patient Values

- Alignment with values

Economic Evaluation

- Cost effectiveness

Adoption and Feasibility

- Economic feasibility (BIA)
- Organizational feasibility

Note: pERC Deliberative Framework adapted from Johnson, Sikich, Evans et al. Health technology assessment: A comprehensive framework for evidence-based recommendations in Ontario. International Journal of Technology Assessment in Health Care, 25, pp 141-150. 2009

Patient members on pERC

- pERC has up to 16 voting members
- 3 patient members (including 1 alternate)
 - Patients or caregivers
- Participate in information gathering and deliberations
- Vote on recommendations