TORONTO, Ontario – October 22, 2019

The Canadian Association for Population Therapeutics / Association Canadienne pour la Thérapeutiques des Populations (CAPT-ACTP) Board of Directors and staff are pleased to announce the recipient of the 2019 Kris Schindel Award, Allan F. Gillman, PhD – Client Analytics, Innomar Strategies.

Allan joined Innomar Strategies in 2018. With more than twenty years of experience in developing information technology solutions, analyzing large-scale dBs, and with extensive knowledge of the Canadian healthcare sector, Allan is committed to advancing the health of Canadians.

For the past fifteen years his focus has been on the development and use of metrics for anonymized patient data. He has generated awareness and interest in those metrics by publishing insights for industry, government, and academic audiences, with many of those metrics becoming industry standards.

Allan is a believer in evidence-based decision making and a trusted thought leader who uses evidence to address critical business decisions and help customers with challenging problems. He was an early advocate for data privacy, participating in privacy audits and helping to design and develop rules for the release of compliant patient insights that met the needs of a variety of constituents.

Allan is a lifelong learner who enjoys doing research and giving back to the population therapeutics community by mentoring colleagues and interacting with new researchers.

Over the past decade Allan served as President, Treasurer and Board member for CAPT-ACTP.
